HONGRONG, DECEMBER 1st, 1885.

THE Burmese difficulty was exciting a good deal of attention in the United Kingdom when the last mail left. Opinion seemed to be somewhat divided as to the expedience of anneration in the event of King Thereaw continuing—as he has continued—recalcitrant, but the majority of the leading journals pronounce in favour of this as a final and, therefore, most satisfactory, solution of the problem how to deal with his dominions. Even the Radical Daily News admits that it may be necessary somer Upper Burmab, though trusting "that United Kingdom from 1st January to the 31st nothing short of absolute necessity will be allowed to sanction it." He last saw him alive about the 3rd or 4th and of the Peking Government. There are no great difficulties in governing the Chinece in the Straits Settlements and would be none at all were it not for the Secret Socisties and occasional clan fights. As a rule the Chinese in the Straits are law-abiding people, and are strong upholders of the maintenance of order. The same may be said with greater emphasis of the Chinese in this Colony. ing surplus population of India. It is one of the paramount duties of a benevolent Government to provide for the expansion of the population. The British Indian Government have spent millions of rupees on irrigation works with the object of reclaiming parched ground hitherto unproductive, and have thereby greatly ameliorated the condition of the people. They have also festered a number of industries, and helped the Indian people to help themselves. It is years since any of the great famines, which formerly were so constantly recurrent, swept over India, but there is never too much margin in that Hand to the teeming millions, and the advisability of finding new fields of labour for the Indian coolie and Indian trader is just as apparent as is the need for the discovery of new markets for British produce and manufactures. It is all very servatives. well not to discourage Chinese immigration into the Malay peninsula and Burmah, but it is the obvious duty of the British and British Indian Governments to make the interests of their Indian subjects their first care. Chinese labour is undeniably better as a rule than Indian, but it is rather more expensive, and the Indians are more easily governed because they are accustomed to making provision for the surplus millions of India appears—unintentionally no doubt quite to have been ignored by the English Press, but we trust that it has not escaped the keen observation of Lord DUFFERIN, whose wide sympathies and generous nature. will infallibly be enlisted in behalf of the Her Majesty's Vicercy.

The decoration of the two ball rooms was light and graceful, the style in either being similar, and being of a decidedly original character. The work in these two halls was planued by Mr. Ferguson, R.N., carried out by him with the assistance of about half a dozen Chinese from the Victor Emanuel, who were found to be most clever and useful workers. In the St. George's. Hall were the Scottish Arms, and the crost of the St. Andrew's Society the former on the upper part of the south wall, and the latter faming it at the north end. Beneath the national arms stood a large mirror, which gave the effect of another ball room beyond, round the foot of which were clustered pot plants. HONGKONG CRICKET CLUB. LONGS (5FT. 10IN. AND OVER) v. SHORTS (under 5rt, 10in.)

A match under this title was arranged for Saturday last, and on paper the sides seemed fair enough, though the Shorts had rather the best bowling. Winning the toss, the Pigmies went in and half an hour had lost 4 wickets for 44. Grimble again hitting well for 24. Two more wickets fell before 60 was reached, and then Dawson and Whyte got together and hit freely, patting on [

Mr. Gace and Robertson each took 8 wickets for 20 and 25 respectively. The Longs fell very quickly to the bowling of Graham and Grimble-Capt. Maturin alone making a short stand for 14, obtained by four hard cuts-until Faller arrived at the wickets, when he quickly put together 25 by hard hitting. The rest made no show and the innings closed for 66, Graham securing 5 wickets for 35, and Grimble 5 for 27. Both Rumsey and Lloyd fell to catches at the wicket off their pads, so they declared, but the umpire thought differently. There being still time, the Longs commenced their second innings, and Dawson, having recovered from his running in the Sun, took up the bowling at one end, but only secured 2 wickets for 35 runs, Robertson playing him with confidence in his 30 (not out), while Stokes, Kee, and Thompson each got into double figures and Lloyd had just commenced to hit freely, when the stumps were drawn. (5 wickets for 70.)
